Greater Cincinnati Events to Look Forward to in 2025

November: Pumpkin Chuck Festival

11 of 12

When: Nov. 1

Where: Stanbery Park

What: The Pumpkin Chuck Festival is pretty self-explanatory (and a good way to release some pent-up energy): it's an annual event celebrating all things pumpkin right after Halloween, including a signature competition where people use catapults, trebuchets and other "creative" machines to launch pumpkins as far as humanly possible. Along with the pumpkin chucking, the festival often features music, food trucks and family-friendly activities, making it a pumpkin perfect event for anyone.

Cost: Free admission; launch up to three pumpkins for $5 each or chuck your own for $15 each.

Sledding in Cincinnati: Here are some of the best hills to hit in the Tri-State

With snow shutting down schools and businesses, kids throughout Greater Cincinnati grabbed their sleds and had some fun.

The team that helps you save so you Don't Waste Your Money

Stanbery Park: 2221 Oxford Ave., Mount Washington

Stanbery Park's sledding hill is infamous and for good reason -- it's regularly recommended as one of the best in the Tri-State. Moreover, its heavily wooded 125-acre landscape is gorgeous to behold under a thick blanket of snow.
