

Molly North

Molly North is a driven executive who some might say is obsessed with getting things done. Since 2015, North has served as president and CEO of Al. Neyer. Prior to becoming the CEO, Molly served as the company's CFO after years of leadership in real estate development. She is heavily invested in the company culture, which fuels the company's growth trajectory. North has extensive experience in sophisticated capital instruments and is especially passionate about urban redevelopment and projects that foster diversity and inclusion at every level.

Prior to joining Al. Neyer in 2007, North served in various roles in finance and accounting at Fifth Third Bank. She started her career at Ernst and Young working in Cincinnati and in Zurich, Switzerland.

North is also heavily engaged in the community and is currently serving as the board chair of the Cincinnati USA Regional Chamber. She also serves on the boards or is an active member of ArtWorks, Hamilton County Land Reutilization Corporation, REDI Cincinnati, Cincinnati Regional Business Committee, Young Presidents' Organization, and the Cincinnati Women's Executive Forum.

North has received recognitions including Ernst and Young Entrepreneur of the Year 2019, Midwest Real Estate News Magazine Commercial Real Estate Hall of Fame, and Cincinnati Business Courier Women Who Mean Business Award. She was also a participant in the Cincinnati USA Chamber of Commerce Leadership Cincinnati Class 39. Under North's leadership, Al. Neyer has received accolades including the Cincinnati Enquirer Best Places to Work, Fast 55 Winner, and Best Places to Work as recognized by Cincinnati Business Courier, NAIOP Developer of the Year in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, NAIOP Deal of the Year in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, and Deloitte Cincinnati USA 100.
